ESTABLISHED 1902 GETTYSBURG, PA., FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 23, 1931. PRICE THREE CENTS

NO INQUEST IS SCHEDULED IN DRIVER'S DEATH

Three Theories Are Advanced To Explain Cause Of Accident.

FUNERAL HELD IN MARYLAND

Funeral services were held this afternoon from the Lutheran church, Emmitsburg, for Newell Luther Pitze, 42, a resident of Emmitsburg, who was instantly killed on Wednesday afternoon when the truck he was driving left the road five miles east of Westminster, ran down a small embankment and crashed into an electric light pole. The Rev. Philip Bower officiated. Interment at Emmitsburg.

State's Attorney Theodore Brown, of Carroll county, Maryland, who investigated, together with Deputy Sheriff Ralph Warehime and State Officer C. R. Rhodes, said an inquest would not be necessary and added that it was a clear case of accidental death. A physician who examined Pitze said death resulted from a broken neck and probable internal injuries.

The accident occurred as Pitze was on his way to market in Baltimore with a load of live calves, dressed chickens and eggs, which were scattered over the highway by the crash. The truck which he was driving and the produce were owned by C. A. Harner, Emmitsburg huckster, by whom Pitze was employed.

No Eye-Witnesses
There were no eye-witnesses to the accident. Officers said they thought Pitze, driving alone, on a straight, level road must have either lost control of his truck or some mechanism of the truck failed him at a crucial moment. The theory was likewise advanced that he might have dozed off at the wheel.

The accident was discovered a few minutes after it occurred by J. Lee Crammer and Joseph Petry, both of New Windsor, dealers in produce, who were returning from Baltimore in a large truck, headed for their home.

They noticed the other truck, badly wrecked and saw a man lying over the steering wheel. He was later identified as Pitze. Attempts to arouse him failed and Crammer telephoned State's Attorney Brown.

The officials investigated and soon reached their conclusion as to accidental death. The live calves, which they believe were precipitated out of the rear of the truck by the crash, were herded into a shed on the neighboring farm of Ulysses H. Shipley while the eggs and the dressed chickens were still scattered about the roadway when the officers left.

Truck Badly Damaged
The truck was damaged almost beyond repair. The engine had been driven back under the floorboards by the impact, windows were shattered and other damage caused. The pole the truck hit was broken off near the ground. Before striking the pole, the truck went down an embankment of about three feet.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Carrie Pitze, and two sons, Ralph and Joseph Pitze. Two brothers, Marshall, of Hagerstown, and Robert, Mt. St. Mary's college, also survive, together with the following sisters: Mrs. Roy Maxell, Emmitsburg; Mrs. E. K. Byers, Heildersburg; Mrs. J. C. Moser, Gettysburg, and Mrs. Roy Ramsburg, Mrs. Roy Graham and Mrs. Grant Lantz, all of Frederick.

Samuel Garfield Pitze, Emmitsburg, a brother, was drowned over thirty years ago, Newell Pitze making the second member of the family to meet an accidental death.

Introduces Bill To Cut Restriction Upon Prescriptions

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP).—A bill to remove restrictions on the distribution of prescription liquor as recommended by the Wickersham commission was introduced today by Senator Copeland, New York.

His bill would do away with the statutory fixing of the amount of medicinal liquor and the number of prescriptions written by physicians. It also makes it unnecessary to specify what it is prescribed for.

Dancer Dies

Mlle. Anna Pavlova, interpretive and ballet dancer, died in Holland from pleurisy.

NOTED SPRING IS STILL DRY AFTER MONTH'S ARIDITY

Spangler Spring, famed in the north and south alike for its wartime associations, continued to remain dry today after first showing signs of becoming so more than a month ago.

There still remains approximately two inches of water in the bottom of the spring, located in the heart of the Gettysburg battlefield, officials of the national military park said today, but as yet there has been no sign of the spring reviving.

Winter snows and the heaviest rain of 1931, apparently have had no effect on the spring as far as park officials can determine.

"There isn't any less water in it, but none has come into it," said one official today.

Eggs Thrown At Rudy As He Sings Haunting Ballad

Boston, Jan. 23.—Rudy Vallee, the crooning troubadour, was concluding his act at the final show Thursday night at the Metropolitan, largest motion picture house in New England, with the rendition of a hortatory ballad entitled "Give Me Something to Remember You By."

His exhortations were not in vain. A group of college boys scattered about the audience, as though at a given signal, let off in Vallee's direction with a barrage of eggs, eggs of a certain age.

The singer, with scarcely a quaver, continued his song to the end, while the fragile missiles whizzed by him to the left and right. None hit him, but the drummer in his orchestra, who had the misfortune to be sitting behind him, found first his cymbals and later himself splattered with that ooze that only a ripe egg can impart.

As he finished the audience gave him a vociferous hand, and Rudy responded with a little speech in which he told how "discouraging" it is to give four or five shows a day in an attempt to please the public and then have his efforts rewarded in such a fashion.

WILL ROGERS says:

To the Editor of The Times: Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 23.—This guy Hawks is so used to going fast in his single-seated racing plane that when we kind of slowed up to 150 miles an hour in Secretary Ingalls' best two-seated plane in America, why, he started to get out and walk. I come by here on my way to Texas, because I wanted to see just how things are out in the plantation country. Going out among it tomorrow. The relief men here say that the need is great. The city of Little Rock is fine. It's not cities, it's poor share-croppers on cotton that's hurt worst, but here is the great thing about this state, where they have been hit hardest. They are going to make their Red Cross quota and help to help themselves. If they can do it, no other state or city can possibly have an alibi.

Yours,
Will Rogers

ANOTHER DRIVER CHOOSES JAIL TO SPEEDING FINE

Driver Heebaub, of the Colonial lines, was sentenced to five days in jail, Thursday night, by Squire Zarger, of Chambersburg, for exceeding the speed limit, according to Sergeant T. N. Boate, in charge of this district of the highway motor patrol.

Heebaub, according to Sergeant Boate, was arrested last November by a member of the Chambersburg sub-station of motor patrol, charged with exceeding the speed limit. His hearing was postponed several times because Heebaub had been transferred to another bus run and could not appear for his hearing.

He appeared Thursday evening before Squire Zarger to answer to the charge. He was found guilty and a fine was assessed with the alternative of spending five days in jail. Heebaub, according to Sergeant Boate, chose the jail sentence and he was committed to the Franklin county jail.

LOCAL PASTOR WILL SUPPORT NEW MOVEMENT

Rev. E. H. Jones And C. A. Bixler Endorse Plan To Promote Gettysburg.

MEETING TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Considerable interest is being manifest in Gettysburg over the proposed organization of public spirited citizens in an effort to accomplish something worth while for the community, not only for the immediate present but for all time.

In the opening announcement of the proposed movement a meeting was announced for Wednesday evening, January 28, in the Hotel Gettysburg annex. Immediately following this announcement there was considerable comment heard on all sides over the possibilities such an organization held.

Some comments urged the solicitation of communications. This The Times did on January 17. Since that time several communications have been received, some of which were withheld at the request of the writer. Others did not pertain to the proposed organization of Gettysburg citizens.

Two Communications
This morning two communications were received, one from the Rev. Edward H. Jones, pastor of the Gettysburg Presbyterian church and the other from C. A. Bixler, district manager, of the Cumberland Valley Telephone company.

Mr. Bixler wrote as follows: "I am in hearty accord with the proposed re-organization of Gettysburg citizens. I am firmly convinced that such a group, if sincere, can accomplish the things this community needs. But this must be a group that will remain intact. Each member must pledge himself to devote all the time he possibly can toward every movement that has the advancement of Gettysburg for a purpose. If these members fail to enter into the spirit of each effort, the movement will be a failure."

"I want to pledge myself toward any movement that will directly or indirectly benefit all of Gettysburg."

Rev. Jones Writes
The Rev. Mr. Jones wrote as follows:

"I pride myself on being a citizen of Gettysburg and as a loyal and patriotic citizen I pledge my earnest support to those enterprises which are for the best interests of the community."

"Gettysburg is renowned throughout our country as a national shrine, esteemed and loved by every true American. We shall ever desire to maintain that reverence and high regard for this hallowed spot."

"I am in hearty sympathy with any movement for the betterment of the community and for the increasing of prosperity in accordance with the principles of right. But I would not approve of any bizarre enterprise which would tend to desecrate the sanctity of this place, lower the respectability of this community, or cheapen the high regard in which Gettysburg is held throughout the nation."

"As a citizen, sincerely concerned for the best welfare of our community, I promise my moral, financial and active support to that end and shall be present for the meeting called for Wednesday evening, January 28, in the Hotel Gettysburg annex. I trust that your call for volunteers, prompted by the desire to promote the betterment of our community, will meet with the hearty and enthusiastic response of our citizenship."

Senate Approves $10,000 for Improvement of Park Roadway

Separate Fund Created For Work On Mummaburg Road In Battlefield.

An appropriation of $10,000 for the improvement of roads on the Gettysburg national park was voted by the senate appropriations committee in Washington, Thursday. The house appropriations committee also approved the same sum several weeks ago in connection with the biennial appropriation for the maintenance of the battlefield.

At the office of Col. E. E. Davis, superintendent of the national park, it was stated that the special appropriation for road improvements would be used specifically for the rebuilding of that portion of the Mummaburg road within the confines of the park.

This road has been in a run-down condition for several years and during the summer when tourist traffic is greatest the Mummaburg road is exceedingly dusty and filled with chuck holes.

The biennial appropriations for the maintenance of the national park in the past have never been quite sufficient to properly repair the road.

FORMER COUNTY MAN KILLED BY FREIGHT TRAIN

Falls Under Wheels At Portage When Foot Slips On Ice And Snow.

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD IN ALTOONA

Funeral services were held today in Altoona for Edward Wampler, 47, a former Benderville man, who was instantly killed when the wheels of a freight train passed over his body at Portage, 30 miles west of Altoona, Tuesday night at 10:10 o'clock, according to word received by relatives here.

Wampler, who had been employed by the Pennsylvania railroad as a freight brakeman for a number of years and was a railroader for 28 years, had remarked to fellow workmen a minute before he met death that it was a bad night.

Testimony at an inquest held in Cambria county following his death revealed that a heavy snow was falling in the railroad yards on Tuesday night and that the ground was covered with treacherous ice.

According to the freight train's engineer, he saw Wampler throw a switch and believed he was running to jump aboard his train while it was in motion. A few minutes later he was found beneath the wheels of the train, his body severed in two where the wheels of the freight car had passed over him. He is believed to have slipped on ice and was catapulted by the force of his fall underneath the train.

The verdict at the inquest was accidental death.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Altoona with interment in an Altoona cemetery.

He is survived by a wife and one daughter, Marion, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. D. C. Taylor, Benderville; D. M. Wampler, Harrisburg; Mrs. Edward Cline, Gardners R. D. 1; S. E. Wampler is the second member of his family to lose his life working on the railroad, relatives said. Three of his brothers are also railroaders.

The Senate was driven into its first night session of this meeting of congress Wednesday night in an effort to clear its docket of vital supply bills.

The interior bill, with its controversial Red Cross appropriation, is now up to the House.

An attempt to get action Wednesday night on the $120,000,000 urgent deficiency bill, carrying more than $23,900,000 for immediate public construction work, was blocked by Senator Wheeler, Montana, Democrat. He said he wanted an opportunity to study the bill and would be ready Thursday.

He ran down a street and jumped into a passing car driven by a woman. The woman increased the car's speed immediately presumably because of threats by the convict.

$50,000 LOST

IN FARO GAME

U. S. Official Won Huge Sum But Got Loan Money To Collect.

Chicago, Jan. 23 (AP).—A swindle in which Edward R. Litsinger, wealthy member of the board of review, lost $50,000 advanced in cash to Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge, collector of internal revenue at Chicago, became public Thursday with charges by Litsinger that the woman was to blame for his loss.

Mrs. Blackledge, admitting she had procured the money from Litsinger, retorted that she had been bilked of the borrowed cash and paper winnings of $207,000 by three men in a faro game at the Springfield hotel and averred that she was as much a victim of the swindlers as her political friend.

Denies Knowledge Of Game

Litsinger declared in a long statement that he knew nothing of any faro game, but had advanced the money to help her obtain $90,000 due from associates of her late husband in a confidential business.

Mrs. Blackledge asserted Litsinger knew she had won large stakes in faro, and was lending her the money to make good a check used as stakes in the game so she could collect her winnings.

Mrs. Blackledge was free Thursday night in Springfield after examination by the state's attorney, while Litsinger had offered $2,000 reward for the capture of any of the three bunco men into whose clutches his money had been placed at the behest of the woman.

Intends To Prosecute

Litsinger announced he would prosecute "everyone involved in this crime."

To his accusations that she was to blame for his loss, Mrs. Blackledge answered:

"That's a lie, and he knows it is."

She asserted that Litsinger lent her $50,000 for twenty-four hours on the promise of $10,000 of her anticipated winnings in the faro game.

"He knew it was for the purpose of collecting the faro debt," Mrs. Blackledge explained. "His nephew sat in the same room with me while I played, and Mr. Litsinger in the adjoining room."

EWALD CHARGES

DROPPED IN N. Y.

Dismiss Accusations After Juries Fail To Agree.

New York, Jan. 23 (AP).—All charges that former Magistrate George F. Ewald bought his seat on the municipal bench were dismissed Thursday.

Involved in the charges were Ewald, his wife, Bertha, Martin J. Healy and Thomas T. Tommaney, Tammany leader, and Dr. Francis M. Schrip, a member of the German-American Steuben society, which recommended Ewald's appointment.

It was charged the Ewalds paid Dr. Schrip $2,000 for the society's recommendation and Mrs. Ewald gave Healy, a Tammany district leader, $10,000 through his lieutenant, Tommaney.

Mrs. Ewald and Healy said she lent him the money to build a home.

Supreme Court Justice Philip J. McCook dismissed the charges on recommendation of the state as well as the defense. Last week a jury disagreed in the trial of the Ewalds, and two juries have failed to agree in trials of Healy and Tommaney.

Under U. S. Indictment

Mrs. Ewald and Tommaney will not have to face trial again, but Ewald, Dr. Schrip and Healy are all under federal indictment. The former magistrate and Dr. Schrip are charged with using the mails to defraud in connection with promotion of the Cotter Butte Mines, Inc., of Butte, Montana.

It was during the federal attorney's investigation into Ewald's connection with the company that the charges dismissed Thursday first were made.

Healy has been indicted on a charge of having failed to file a federal income-tax return for 1927.

Directors Lose But

Little In Bank Crash

New York, Jan. 23 (AP).—Max D. Steuer, in charge of county and state investigations of the closed Bank of United States, said Thursday directors of the closed bank were losing nothing by closing of the institution.

He declared all of the directors had borrowed money from the institution in excess of stock in it. The assertion was made during examination of David Tishman, a director whose company owes the bank $750,000.

Joseph C. Brownstone, another director, admitted as a witness that of $650,000 borrowed from the bank $500,000 was lost trading in stocks on margin. He said he had borrowed in his own name and in the name of three firms which he owns, that he personally owes $100,000 and had between $5,000 and $3,000 on deposit when the bank closed.

Faith-Healing Favored By English High Churchmen

London, Jan. 23.—A resolution favoring the institution of a faith-healing service within the Church of England was carried by an overwhelming majority in the lower house of the convocation of Canterbury Thursday. The resolution, which was approved by 197 clergymen and opposed by only three, specifically asks for sanction of anointment and laying on of hands and petitions the Archbishop of Canterbury to draw up a provisional service pending full synodical legislation.

The document points out that the primitive rites of anointing and laying hands on the sick with a view to their recovery has been in extensive use for many years among individual clergymen for the most part with Episcopal approval.

Used For Many Years

Numerous ministers said in the discussion that they had been preaching the doctrine of faith healing many years and felt it positively "heart-breaking" that there was "this tremendous power" locked up in the church which could not be brought into general use without official recognition. All declared they were not antagonistic to medical science and had no thought of attempting to replace doctors, but thought ministry to souls a valuable adjunct and believed medical men were realizing more and more the necessity of a spiritual agency in connection with their work.

Several said as a result of the church's neglect in this matter many of their parishioners were turning to Christian Science.

Investigate Subject

The resolution is significant of the increasing demand since the war for official recognition of spiritual healing. Over twenty years ago a committee was appointed to investigate and study the experience gained in this line during the Middle Ages as well as modern manifestations of Christian Science. The bishops of Kensington, Liverpool, Ripon, Saint Albans, Winchester and Southwark have for some time taken a keen interest in the work, studying the relation between spiritual life and physical health in the light of the latest knowledge of psychology.

Another committee was appointed in 1923, which reported to the archbishop that year, and as a result six medical men and six clergymen were chosen to study the problem. For a time they held regular meetings, but as far as is known they have not been functioning lately and little has been heard of their inquiries.

NYE HEAR TALES OF DAVIS RACE

Many See No Fight But Others Report Stiff Contest.

Washington, Jan. 23 (AP).—The Nye campaign funds committee Thursday heard that while the main Pennsylvania contest in the last campaign was for governor, the Grundy forces made it a stiff race for senator.

Six witnesses appeared, four county committee members, one an official of the Pennsylvania state republican committee and the sixth a commission investigator. The committee is investigating expenditures in behalf of Senator Davis, of Pennsylvania.

Many Witnesses

The five Pennsylvanians, A. Boyd Hamilton, assistant republican state chairman; W. C. Klein, Coudersport; King Gilliland, Franklin; Harry S. Perry, Pittsburgh; and A. H. Leitzler, Houtzdale, told the committee Davis' popularity in Pennsylvania made unnecessary expenditure of much money to further his campaign. They said the primary opposition of former Senator Joseph R. Grundy, to Davis' nomination was not to be considered a contest.

Hamilton, while stating the main primary contest was for the governorship, said he and others had waged a strong campaign for Grundy.

"We went out to sell Uncle Joe to the voters," Hamilton said. "Mr. Grundy was in the fight and he's a pretty good little spender."

PAVLOWA DIES OF INFLUENZA

Famous Dancer, Ill Since Tuesday, Dies In Holland.

The Hague, Jan. 23 (AP).—Mme. Anna Pavlova, famous Russian dancer, who had been ill with influenza and pleurisy here, died late Thursday night.

The noted entertainer first became ill Tuesday after she had arrived from Paris, and her husband, Victor D'Andre, believed at that time she merely was suffering from a cold caught in the French capital.

Later in the day her condition grew more serious and it was learned she had a combination of influenza and pleurisy. This developed a high temperature and early Thursday night it was announced her condition had become grave.

Mme. Pavlova, who was 45, last visited the United States in 1920 on what she called her farewell tour. Of late it was understood, however, she intended to visit American again shortly.

Began At Age Of 10

The famous dancer was only 10 years old when she began to perform. In 1895 she entered the Imperial Ballet school at St. Petersburg (now Leningrad), her birthplace. In time she became the prima ballerina of the Mariinski theater, which was connected with the school.

Later she went to the Imperial Opera house in the same city and thus acquired a glamorous reputation. She left Russia in 1910 and in that year scored triumphs in London, Paris and New York.

Audience Stampedes At Movie Train Roars

Georovesti, Rumania, Jan. 23 (AP).—The introduction of motion pictures into this village Thursday night caused a panic in which twelve persons were injured, some seriously.

A peasant audience, no member of which ever had seen a movie before, was assembled in the hall to view a thriller and suddenly the scene flashed to a locomotive roaring straight down the track. A stampede ensued.

WOMAN FALLS ON ICE, FRACTURES SKULL

York.—Striking her head on the ice after she lost her balance and fell while skating Wednesday afternoon at Bierman's ice pond, south of Violet Hill, resulted fatally to Mrs. Flora Fisher, 38 years old, of 38 West Jackson street, who died at the York hospital at 1:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Death was caused by a fractured skull.

In company with Mrs. Victor Fisher, Roosevelt avenue, and Mrs. Luther Stoner, East Market street, Mrs. Fisher was skating on the pond. She separated from the other two women and continued skating up and down the length of the pond.

ARREST FORMER MIDWAY MAN IN HANOVER THEFT

Hanover.—Acting on an anonymous tip received by telephone, Detective Jesse Crabbs, Lieutenant H. B. Morrison, of the Pennsylvania railroad police, and Detective W. H. Myers, York, Wednesday night at 8 o'clock arrested B. H. Myers, York, on a charge of receiving stolen goods in connection with the recent robbery of the H. W. Miller company's warehouse, High street.

Myers, who is 28 years old, formerly lived on Third street, Midway, but has been a resident of York for a number of years.

It is alleged that Myers received some of the 90,000 cigarettes stolen last week from the Miller company's warehouse. The warrant for his arrest was issued by Justice of the Peace Lewis D. Sell on oath of Paul B. Miller, of the H. W. Miller company. Myers was committed to the county jail to await a hearing.

GIRL DIES FROM BURNS SUFFERED AT HOME

Hagerstown.—Verna May Myers, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvey Myers, Middleburg, died at the Washington county hospital Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock from burns received early Monday morning when the Myers home, one mile north of Middleburg, was destroyed by fire.

Mr. Myers, 27, and a son, Benjamin Franklin, aged five, who were also burned, are on the road to recovery. Mrs. Myers and another daughter, Betty Jean, aged two, escaped without injury.

The fire was started by the explosion of a gasoline lantern, and the flames spread rapidly. The parents were awakened and in an attempt to rescue the two children the father, son and daughter were badly burned in running through the flames to the open.

YOUTH PHONES FIRE ALARM; RIDES ON TRUCK

Chambersburg.—Elwood Upperman, 17, of North Franklin street, must have craved a ride on a fire truck.

That's the only explanation police could offer on the basis of Upperman's confession Wednesday morning that he telephoned Stewart Rossman, driver of the Junior chemical apparatus, that there was a fire at 153 North Second street Tuesday night at 9:50 and then went out and got on the truck and rode up and down Second street while the driver sought the fictitious address.

When Rossman received the call he started out to hunt the fire. He found that there is no "153 North Second street," so, thinking that perhaps he had misunderstood the telephone message, he drove in South Second street searching for the fire. Needless to say he didn't find it. In the meantime, Upperman was on the fire truck, apparently as much interested in locating the fire as the baffled driver.

YOUTH INJURED WHEN BIKE IS HIT BY CAR

Waynesboro.—Joseph F. Buhrman, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Buhrman, was severely injured shortly before 6 o'clock Wednesday night when the bicycle on which he was riding was struck by the sedan driven by J. F. Donnelly, electrician at the state sanatorium at South Mountain.

The accident occurred in front of the home of Edmund C. Buhrman, North Church street extended, only a few hundred yards from the youth's home.

The youth, according to attending physicians, is suffering from a fracture of the left side of the skull in the temple area and a broken left arm between the elbow and shoulder. The youth is still unconscious.

Senators Cut Down Salaries In Poland

Warsaw, Jan. 23 (AP).—Parliamentary members of the government parties, to set an example of economy to the nation, introduced a motion Thursday in the sejm which would cut the salaries of senators and deputies 15 per cent.

As the 444 deputies and 111 senators each receive only the equivalent of $125 monthly, the direct saving to the national treasury will not be great.

As the beginning of a nation-wide economy campaign, however, the decision of the members of parliament is expected to have a far-reaching effect.

Masked Longing

By Howard Rocky

A Romance of Radio

SYNOPSIS: When an accident ends her stage career, Aileen Gray becomes "Mademoiselle Masque," mystery radio singer advertising Emilie Gluck's perfumes. Dwight Channing, artist, makes her a porcelain mask to cover her scars. Because of these scars, Aileen decides she must discourage Jimmy Crane, a press agent, who loves her. Arnold Kronberg, movie magnate, is making advances to Vivienne, Aileen's sister, when a masked woman shoots him. Suspecting it was Aileen, he threatens, after his recovery, to accuse Vivienne of the attack unless she incriminates Aileen. A telegram signed "Adrasteia" hints the sender was Kronberg's assailant and threatens to throw the blame on Aileen if necessary. Kronberg's new theatre, with mural decorations by Channing for which Vivienne posed, is about to open. It is decided that Aileen and Vivienne both will attend the opening, but as strangers to throw Kronberg off the track.

Chapter 28

AILEEN STEALS THE SHOW

It was a gay little party that gathered at Channing's studio two nights after the conference in the office of Max Klein's theatre. Vivienne was installed there temporarily, while Channing had moved out.

"You have to award Max the ouquets!" Jimmy Crane said to Aileen as they drank a toast to their absent member. "You and I will meet in a public theatre—with plenty of people whose memories count, looking on when you do, after that, your being together whenever you choose to meet is perfectly O. K. That means no one's going to guess that La Masque is Aileen Gray. Gluck doesn't know it—nor Saunders. Let Arnold Kronberg think what he likes. He can't make much of it."

The portals of Kronberg's theatre swung open to the public with considerable elan. Kronberg stood in the foyer, surrounded by a circle of friends. Burns, one of the theatrical critics, chuckled as he saw Max Klein alighting from his limousine. His opera hat on the back of his head, a cigar in his ringed fingers, Klein assisted three feminine guests to step slowly from his car.

"Is this capitulation?" The King dead, long live the King?" Burns asked Kronberg facetiously as he recognized the women. They were Julie Sorano, Alys Doyle and Edna Vellamy, two of Max Klein's former stars and one whose rise was predicted.

"Wee! Pay Grant wasn't playing tonight, she'd make the group complete," Tom Quinn observed and waved to them.

"Except Aileen Gray," said Woodward. "Wonder what's become of her since that accident."

"I've wondered myself," answered Kronberg, moving off to shake hands with Klein.

"Speaking of Gray," Burns remarked to the other two, "I suppose that sister of hers will be here if Channing comes tonight. Remember that statue of her he did—the one that started the ruction at Channing's studio party? I've heard, and I suppose it's true, that the sister was the model Channing used for his murals."

"A lot of things are rumored up and down this street!" Woodward sniffed a yawn. "Hello, Edna!" he exclaimed as Miss Vellamy paused beside him. "What's all this I hear about you flirting with the films?"

"Hoeeey!" laughed Edna and powdered her nose. "I'm just a captive maiden attached to the conqueror's rain." She tilted her head to inspect herself in the mirror of her compact, and carefully flicked the powder dust from the tiny crescent beauty-spot at the corner of her mouth.

Klein was conscious of a finger poking at his ribs as his party entered the box reserved for them. "Look!" whispered Julie Sorano. "Isn't that the radio girl? Over here with Jimmy Crane."

Aileen was just sitting down, close to the rail of the loge. As though a spotlight played on her, the faint illumination of a shaded bracket-lamp made the porcelain mask stand out in the semi-darkness. All about, there were murmurs. People were pointing out La Masque.

"You who have nails, prepare to bite them now!" Julie Sorano laughed softly. "Kronberg must be crazy. Nobody's going to remember what his picture's all about. He might have had sense enough to know that mask would stop the show."

Write was right. So far Klein's little comedy was progressing very well. But he was too old a stager to count on success too soon. To any who observed him, Klein appeared enamored of the fetching effect of the beauty-patch on Edna Vellamy's cheek.

Kronberg's "cinema-opera-comique" came at last to its conclusion. "Let's hurry!" suggested Alys Doyle. "Max, I want to meet her."

"Who?" he asked.

"La Masque, of course, you dumb-bell!" The entire house was possessed of the same idea. The foyer was almost impassable.

Max Klein stood on tip-toe, heaving Channing and Vivienne speaking to Jimmy Crane. Jimmy presented Viv to La Masque as though they were total strangers.

That was one danger averted, but Klein was mystified. There was something ominous in the fact that, thus far, nothing had been achieved by Kronberg's having exerted himself to have both sisters there.

Klein knew that Aileen saw him now, and he signaled caution as their glances met. "Jimmy!" he called and poked Crane with his stick. The girls want to meet Mademoiselle."

Jimmy edged them in.

"It's been so nice to see you!" Aileen included all of her courtiers, quite impersonally. "Now I must thank Mr. Kronberg and say good night to him." Aileen turned to him as he approached, and with characteristic impetuosity, gave him both her hands. "Your picture was perfectly splendid!" she said. "I enjoyed every minute of it."

"Mademoiselle is very good," Kronberg made her a bow. "My memories of this theatre will always serve to remind me of the Lady of the Mask."

"Edna," said Julie Sorano, moving on after the others. "I think I know who she is. There's something familiar about her voice—"

"And that's the answer!" Miss Vellamy's smile was superior. "I guessed long ago."

"Yeah?" scoffed Klein as he lit a cigar. "If one of you guessed her secret of knocking the public cold, I should be interested."

Jimmy had overheard them, but he was watching Kronberg. "Well?" he managed to whisper to Klein. "What's your guess about it? Did we put it over?"

"Nothing's over till it's finished!" Klein growled in a low tone. "There's a chance we got him bluffed. But I ain't sure about it. Did you hear what he said to Aileen?"

"You think he knows?" Jimmy stopped short.

"What that guy knows'll be plenty—when he finds it out!" Klein chuckled and puffed his corona. "If you knew what I found out tonight, you'd believe in Santa Claus."

Tomorrow the mask almost proves Aileen's undoing.

NEED MILLIONS TO STOP ENEMY OF NORTH WOODS

Blister Rust Causes More Damage Than Forest Fires.

Spokane, Wash. (AP).—To control a parasite more deadly to northwest forests than fires, an expenditure of $7,500,000 within ten years will be necessary.

This is the estimate of forestry experts of the federal government and northwest states meeting here to plan a concerted defense from the blister rust that reached the Pacific coast from Europe eight years ago.

The forest industries in Washington, Idaho, Oregon and Montana—some 3,000,000 acres—produce an annual revenue approximating $40,000,000. More than a million an half acres of this timber is controlled by the United States, the largest "owner."

Blister Rust

The blister rust, less spectacular than the fires, is potentially more disastrous. E. K. McHarg, inspector of the federal forest service said, but the fight against it has been organized, and damage has been contained to thousands of dollars rather than millions.

The rust grows quietly like a fungus on gooseberry and currant bushes, is waited to pines, girdles and kills them and then drifts back to the bushes for another cycle.

Eradication work consists of killing bushes by uprooting or damaging them with chemicals.

"The United States is the only country to achieve control of blister rust, as European nations have given up growing of white pines because of it," said Colonel Evan W. Kelley, regional forester.

By spending approximately $750,000 each year for ten years, the pine timber of the coast can be freed of the menace, experts estimate.

Federal and state foresters only recently discovered vast areas of infection in Idaho, and immediate preventive work was urged.

Penn. Boy is Healthiest

"My little son, James, suffered from constipation," says Mrs. A. G. Toner, 287 South 55th St., Philadelphia. "He was having a hard time until I heard of California Fig Syrup and got him some. The first few doses regulated his bowels, brightened him up marvelously; even seemed to strengthen him and help his digestion."

"I have since used Fig Syrup with James during colds or upsets. It has been a wonderful help to him; has assisted in making him the strong boy you see—perhaps the healthiest one in our neighborhood."

For more than fifty years, mothers have praised California Fig Syrup. Leading physicians advise its use with bilious, headachy, constipated children, or to keep the bowels open during colds or children's diseases. Children love its rich, fruity flavor. It tones and strengthens weakened bowels; helps make children robust.

Look for the name California when buying. That marks the genuine.

ment to raise a $30,000 fund for the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building at

At Thursday's meeting the plan

Warm Spell May Injure the Fruit.
—The warm spell of yesterday caused much complaint on the part of some people, while others appeared to be pleased with the turn of the temperature.

The mutterings are coming from fruit growers all over the county.

Read The Bible With Us Daily

When ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.

Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.

After this manner therefore pray ye:
Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.

Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread.

And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.

And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.

For if ye forgive men their trespasses,
your heavenly Father will also forgive you:
But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

NEW YORK Day by Day by O. O. McIntyre

New York, Jan.
23.—Thoughts
while strolling:
Peter Arno—looking clubmen with droopy mustaches and tired eyes of a blood-hound. I like to pronounce the name of that art dealer-Knoellei. Jewel studded suspenders in Cartier's.

The Rialto's
tallest playwright
Robert E. Sherwood. W. W. Hawkins, a Springfield, Missouri, boy, who made good in the city. More Shakespearean plays. The future of ham is Hamlet. Those one-buttoned great coats like Jimmie Walker wears. Bruce Barton could pose for the clothing ads—wavy hair and everything.

Gloomy ladies who moan they never had a childhood. An attend pays stressing frustration. Something comfortable about the name of Anne. The bored salesman in that 57th street yacht store. Nothing looks so hopeless as the expression of a man stepping into a patrol wagon.

Sidney Lenz and Sigmund Spaeth look alike. Fred Dewiller, the painter. Lecture topic: "After 50 what?" I'll take an open fire, the patter of rain and a mystery story.
What became of lads who smoked themselves pale coloring meerschaum pipes? A debutante hoop-de-hoo: Attaching a single orchid to a bracelet.

Hard to beat a navy blue and white polka dot tie. Like those that Noel Coward wears. The Grand Central newsboy who wears spats.
Park Row's best known reporter—Martin Green. One of those sacred white female zebras of society—waddling into a bank. The high-nosed sandoos.

Nothing impresses me more than liveried footman and chauffeur up front in a black long limousine. The legless man and his friendly Boston.
Wonder how long it takes Mr. Coolidge to write his column? And does he read it to his wife, poor thing!

There's a country squire look about J. P. Morgan, with all his yachts and what not. And somebody tells me he likes vaudeville. I once met him late at night walking on ship deck and started to speak.
But instead popped out in a sudden Gethsemane-like perspiration.

—OO—
At a party the other evening, the bachelor host ran out of cocktail ingredients. He dispatched an apartment house hall boy for a flagon of gin. When it came he held it aloft and cried: "This probably holds all the cooking receipts of Lucretia Borgia, but is everybody willing to take a chance?"

Save for three on the water wagon, everybody was. I'd like to stretch a barbed paragraph here about the folly of the incident, but most of us have taken the same chances with no deadly results. Drinkers cannot be frightened out of their cups. This is all twisted-up, but if I stop to straighten it out I'll miss the mails.

—OO—
Those wincing at number 13 may stage a little fancy shuddering for the Sobol Brothers, whose gas filling stations have become a sculptured fixture of the New York horizons. There are two brothers—Ira Jacob Sobol and Benjamin Sobol.
Each has 13 letters to his name.

There are 13 letters to the firm name Sobol Brothers—also a trade mark. Their mother was the 13th child born on the 13th of the month.

The number of the Sobol Brothers automobile is 13-13 preceded by various letters. Their main office is 1313 5th avenue.

Their familiar greasing slogan
"Men Who Know" contains 13 letters and the idea for a chain of filling stations came to them in 1913.
They operate 91 stations or seven times 13. Their main station has 13 pumps and 26 employees—twice 13.
And if you think I'm going to keep on unraveling a free puff this way you are plum silly.

—OO—
A group of first nighters were in a lobby huddle. An ermined night club hostess pranced by, chirping:
"Scandalizing the ladies, eh?"
"Only the ladies," beamed one.
"Pass on in peace!"

—OO—

In groping about despairingly for a final paragraph for this unsalty critique it occurs to me my grandfather used to say every true gentleman should learn to dance, play a fiddle and understand Latin. I got as far as a little spring-kneed two-stepping and "Over the Waves" on a mandolin, and then broke down completely and became a newspaperman. Dear old grandpa!

Stomach Specialist Lauds Flaxolyn Discovery

The following message has just been received from Dr.
Orlando Marandino:
"As a stomach and internal specialist of Florence, Italy, I can state with authority that Flaxolyn has an invigorating effect on languid stomach and bowels, and in a short time should succeed in restoring normal action."

"I have put Flaxo-lyn to the test of my professional experience, and find it scientifically ideal. I do not hesitate to recommend it to young and old."

Dr. Marandino is one of many doctors, here and abroad, who have been retained to give expert opinion on the merits of the Flaxolyn formula. Flaxolyn must have genuine value because more physicians have publicly endorsed Flaxolyn than any other product in the history of American Medicine.

A New York physician says: "I advise the use of Flaxolyn because it is one of Nature's most valuable herb remedies."

Positive Guarantee
You have read the wonderful statement by Dr. Marandino. Now start taking Flaxolyn yourself. You do not risk a penny. Unless Flaxolyn does you good by the sixth pleasant spoonful, just return the partly-used bottle and your money will be handed right back to you. This certainly is an honest offer.

Passenger Shot On Limited Is Near Death In Hospital.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, Jan. 23 (AP)—Every community in this section was on the alert Thursday night for traces of six train bandits who shot a passenger and robbed five others on a Big Four pullman car as the train sped between Carey, Ohio, and here early Thursday.

Fired with a spirit of boldness reminiscent of the outlaws of another day, the robbers, masked and heavily armed, roused the passengers from their berths about 3 a. m. and made away with valuables worth $2,670.

Shouting Man Silenced

They shot Edwin K. Nelson, Jr., of Tampa, Florida, to silence him when he awakened from his sleep shouting. As the train pulled into Bellefontaine at a slackening pace they dropped off the coach, leaving three women and two men passengers herded into a drawing room and the wounded man near death in his berth.

Most of Crew Unaware

The bandits confined their operations to a single Pullman, of which there were several on the train. The engine crew and conductors of the train made the forty-mile run without an inkling of what was going on in the second coach from the rear. No one else knew except the six victimized passengers of the raided car, the porter, two flagmen and a brakeman who were held by the bandits.

AMUSEMENTSAt The Strand

A new motion picture camera, able to operate on the bottom of the ocean in synchrony with sound recording apparatus and without the protection of a diving bell, has been proved successful in action.

The equipment was designed and perfected by the camera department at Paramount's Hollywood studios for use in making "The Sea God," a story told partly on the floor of the Pacific, which features Richard Arlen and Fay Wray, and which plays today and Saturday at the Strand theatre.

Long before the picture was ready to go into production, the camera experts were considering the best method of photographing the under-seas sequences.

A diving bell could be employed to protect the camera. In that case, all action would have to be brought within the narrow vision range offered by stationary bell-glass port-holes.

At the Majestic

Today brings the first stage attraction to the Majestic theatre in several months, when the Pickaninny Band of Deacon Hampton appears along with the feature, "Eyes of the World," by Harold Bell Wright. The band is composed of the young musicians. Short subjects are also on the program.

"River's End" from James Oliver Curwood's book will be the feature Saturday along with a Mickey Mouse cartoon.
